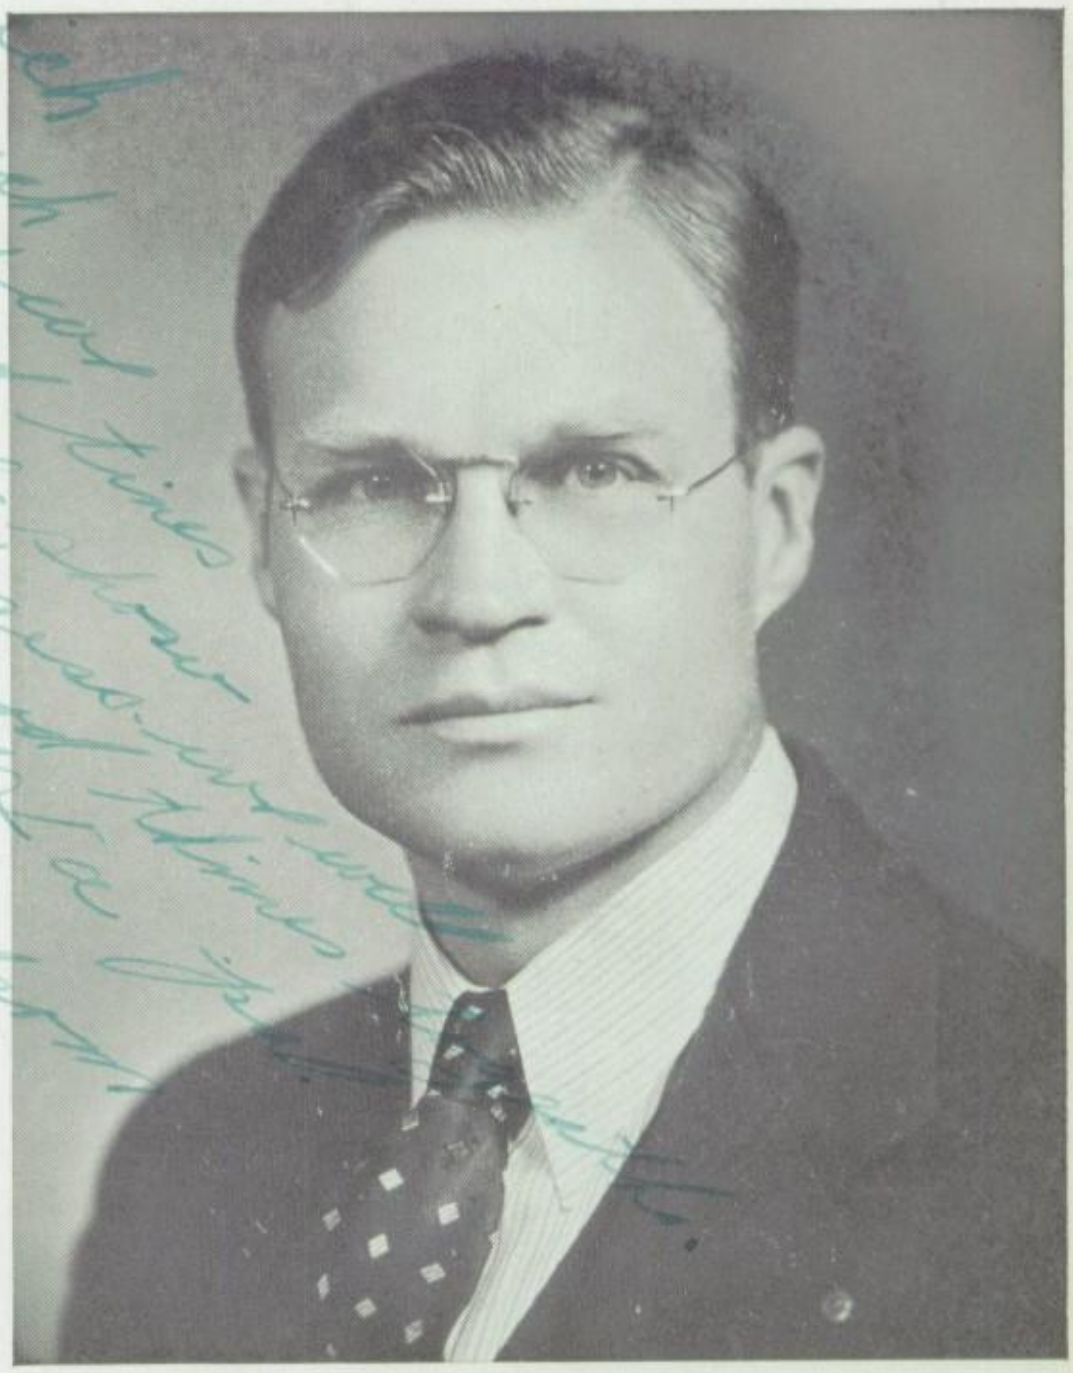
TO these men, who through each year give their time that Chino High School may serve the boys and girls and the community in the most efficient manner, we owe the deepest appreciation.

To them we extend congratulations from faculty, students, and staff for this last year's splendid achievements.

May the coming year be for them and for the school one of equal progress and unqualified success.



Leonard F. Collins,
Superintendent

THE year 1933-34 has been a year of progress as shown by the larger percentage of students making high records in citizenship, and in scholarship; the grit and determination in athletics; the enthusiastic support of the student body; and by the impressive array of cups and trophics which have mounted so rapidly, and overflowed our trophy cases.

I would urge all students to go in for vigorous all round development in scholarship, in personality, and in athletics. Work hard to make the best possible grades. Don't worry if they're not all A's.... The important thing is to be working and studying at your best, and keep up a spirit of courage and cheerfulness. Be confident of success.... Cowards never succeed....

Keep in A 1 physical condition....

Spread the idea of service and helpfulness to the school....

The radiant spirit of helpfullness and cheery co-operation of Chino High students is very inspiring to me.... I wish for each of you many years of achievement and happiness.

Cordially yours,
Leonard F. Collins,
Superintendent

Senior Class History

THE officers of the class of 1934 are: Robley Reher, president; Nina Merrill, secretary; Walter Clark, vice-president; Fred Wright, treasurer.

There are six boys who are graduates with this class whose pictures do not appear with the other seniors: Amado Briones, Tony Campos, R. H. Ragsdale, Earl Bunting, Chester Wilson, and Robert Garcia.

With the entrance of this class in high school things began stirring in journalism, in science, in agriculture, in commercial work, in music, in art, and in athletics. As juniors we presented our class play, "Clarence" which was truly a hit; our junior rings brought us another thrill. The highlight of the year, though, was the royal banquet that we gave the seniors at the Sycamore Inn. We were sorry to see the seniors go, yes, but we were much more elated to return to school and to rule the roost, so to speak. As seniors we enjoyed the privileges that go with that austere position. Individuals of the class did much in bringing home honor to the school in interschoolastic competition. The class as a group succeeded in winning the color fight, interclass basketball, and track. The eagerly anticipated farewell banquet given to us by the juniors was everything it should be.

Our appreciation goes whole-heartedly to our advisers, and our class mother, who helped to make our sojourn in high school both pleasant and profitable.

Thus, conscious of the boundless benefits we have derived from our days at school, we bid farewell to Chino High.

Amado Briones

Eleventh Grade

THIS year's junior class, though quite small, showed a fine school spirit. The class was well represented in all school activities, athletic, scholastic and social.

The first important event of the year was the color fight. Although the juniors were defeated, they made a very good showing; and the senior's victory was not easily won. Next came their class play, "Where's Your Wife?" This play was one of the best ever presented in the C. H. S. Auditorium. Then the class rings arrived. The juniors certainly showed good taste in selecting their rings, for they are very snappy.

The last event of the year over-shadowed all others—the long-looked for Junior-Senior Banquet. It was a great success, and will long be remembered by all who attended.

If the showing they made as juniors is any indication, we can surely look for great things from the seniors of 1935.

ACTIVITIES

Student Council

THE Student Council is a group representing the students of Chino High School. With the advice of some of the faculty, the council works on problems concerning the welfare of the students and school activities.

This organization holds a regular meeting once every two weeks. The president may call special meetings with the consent of the principal.

The Student Council has for its members the Associated Student officers, the presidents of the senior high and junior high classes, and four members of the faculty. The officers of the Associated Students fill the same positions in the Student Council.

The sale of student body tickets, the football banquet, and the Armistice day celebration are the special events that the Student Council has made their duty to carry out each year. The work of this organization as a whole is to discuss and decide the different problems pertaining to the school in general.

El Chasqui Staff

"EL CHASQUI" is a record in word and picture of the activities and achievements of the school year. The staff strives to make it a book that will serve as a pleasant reminder of happy high school days in the years to come. Mrs. Toste, the adviser, meets with the staff every Wednesday afternoon. At these meetings new assignments are given out, and the last ones are turned in. The members of the staff are given varied assignments in the order in which the material is needed. In this way the members gain practice in write-ups of all kinds, and find it more interesting than writing in one department all year.

Jack Parker was elected editor-in-chief of this year's annual. He worked very hard to make the book worth while. He and Mrs. Toste chose the rest of the staff from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

Lariat Staff

UNDER the capable direction of Mrs. Reed and Mr. Dunn, the faculty advisers, the Lariat staff published a very newsy paper this year. The staff, although very small, worked hard all year and should be commended for their excellent work. The Lariat attained this year a higher standard of journalism.

Robley Reher was the editor, and he deserves a great deal of credit for the work he did. Anna May Thompson made a reliable assistant editor. Emma Mary Whitney showed her business ability in the capacity of business manager. June Wallace and Marguerite Casenave had charge of the features, and Robert Preston, who has the most difficult job of all, was the make-up editor.

Besides the staff, each class and each organization had a representative who reported the activities of their respective classes and organizations. These reporters helped materially toward making the Lariat a good paper and deserve credit along with the staff.

Music is the art of the prophets, the only art that can calm the agitation of the soul; it is one of the most magnificent and delightful presents God has given us.—Luther.

¶ Music is the fourth great material want of our natures,-first food, then raiment, then shelter, then music.—Bovee

¶ Music is a sacred, a divine, a God-like thing, and was given to man by Christ to lift our hearts up to God, and make us feel something of the glory and beauty of God, and of all which God has made.—Charles Kingsley

¶ Music washes away from the soul the dust of every-day life.—Auerbach

Mixed Chorus

THIS chorus which takes the place of the two glee clubs of previous years, is composed of nearly seventy unselected voices which, with the exception of three or four, have had no other voice training.

They have given many programs throughout the year, the first being on Open House Night, November 16. This was followed by the Christmas Cantata, which was such a success that they were asked to repeat it on Christmas morning at radio station K. N. X. Many people all over Southern California heard and enjoyed this program. Several exchange programs with other schools have been given. Such programs are becoming popular as they bring the students of the different schools together in friendship. The crowning event of the year was the operetta, "Oh, Doctor." The choruses and leading characters were selected from the mixed chorus. Critics who have heard the chorus have remarked about its fine balance of voices and its fine interpretation.

Orchestra

THE orchestra has made splendid progress toward a better understanding and execution of music under the skillful and enthusiastic direction of our new instructor, Mr. Broadwell. Excel ent artistry of interp etation, accuracy of intonation, and mastery of technical details has characterized the playing. This has been accomplished as the result of a keen desire on the part of each individual to build for a high standard of achievement, and each memeber has conscientiously carried through a strenuous individual program of home practice .

The orchestra meets each day for a period of various kinds of rehearsing, sometimes by sections and sometimes altogether.

The orchestra was heard at assembies, at the junior play, the Christmas cantata, the operetta, and graduation, all of which were surprisingly well accomplished. It also played with great ability at exchange assemblies at other schoo's which was a new procedure this year.

Mr. Broadwell deserves much credit for his excellent achievements.

Harmonica Band

THE harmonica band has been very successful. It is composed of forty seventh grade boys and girls who are all eager to take part in musical activities. Many of these youngsters had had no instrumental work before they entered the harmonica band. This year they have learned the fundamental principles of music which will help them in further music study. Of these principles, probably the most important are rythm, ear training, sight reading, expression, and music appreciation. They have grasped these essentials quickly; and Mr. Broadwell, who directs the class, is well pleased with their success. Besides the knowledge of music that is obtained from being in the harmonica band, the students may derive a great deal of pleasure from the companionship it offers. During the course of the year, they have made several public appearances; and their music has been highly appreciated.

The harmonica band has proved to be quite a stepping-stone to the study of piano, voice, and orchestral instruments. Such an organization is well worth the time spent upon it; if it can interest the younger student in music, as this has done.

Junior Class Play

A ROLLICKING comedy of amusing situations was presented in the Chino High School auditorium by a well-directed group of juniors on December 8.

The hilarious effect that the play had upon the audience was evidence enough that the comedy was well presented.

Each member of the well chosen cast, whether his part was large or small, served not merely to fill up space on the stage but to portray his part with the ease and technique of professional actors. Each participant seemed to have a natural acting talent.

To Samuel G. Warren, goes considerable praise for developing a young and inexperienced cast into such a smooth-working organization as presented the junior play.

"Where's Your Wife" was a delightful and completely entertaining production and one that will not easily be equalled on any high school stage.

Operetta

The mixed chorus, accompanied by the highly complimented High School orchestra, presented "Oh, Doctor" May 4-5 to enthusiastic capacity audiences. Intricate dances, special sets, strong dramatic action, rousing choruses and splendid solo voices marked the production an outstanding achievement.

IMAGINARY PLAYMATES

When I was very, very small,
'bout three or four or five;
I had some make-believe playmates
As real 'sif they were 'live.
Whenever I'd go way from home,
They'd always follow me;
And when I'd give a tea party,
They'd drink some of the tea.
When I was mean, they'd not get mad
Like most real children do.
They'd look at me jus' kind of sad
'Till I felt sorry too.
Now when I look among my friends,
I realize at last;
There's no one really perfect like
Those playmates of the past.

Courtesy

THE dictionary says that a person who is courteous is one of court-like manners. If we read farther, we find that it also says that a person who is courteous is civil, polite, well-bred, affable, and obliging. Truly, a person of courtlike manners would be polite; but I have always imagined court-like manners to be conduct according to form rather than in being courteous because of wishing to be so. Courtesy is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way. Whether rich or poor, we may perform many acts of kindness if we only want to see our chance.

Once in a while, something happens to us, and we feel that life isn't worth living. If someone gives us a smile or a good word, we feel like taking a new lease on life. For instance in my work--it seems that I get my share of complaints from people. One afternoon it seemed as if I just couldn't get thru with my work. I had gotten a late start, several people had stopped me to tell me how late I was, and to top it all--it was insufferably hot. There I was running up and down those scorching streets while everyone else was lying on their cool green lawns under big shady trees. I was about ready to drop when along came one of my competitors and smiled and waved to me as if he really was a friend. I smiled and waved. Is it necessary to tell you how much nicer that afternoon seemed?

In business, courtesy is absolutely essential both in getting a job and in holding one. If a person comes to my father and mother for work, they first see if this person is neat and clean in his appearance. This goes a long way, because to be clean is also being respectful of others. No one can stand to be around a person who is dirty. The second thing they look to is their speech. What can be worse than having a person around whose mouth just overflows all the time with terrible words. Also, much can be learned of a person by the way he talks of his acquaintances and surroundings. Last of all, they find out if this person is qualified for the position he has asked to have.

In friendships, courtesy is nearly all in making friends and keeping them. Often times our friends need just a little help or a word of encouragement which we are capable of giving. If we wish to have friends, we must remember to respect their judgment and wishes as well as our own.

We must be especially courteous to the very old and young. I used to visit a friend' frequently, and one thing which was always very gratifying was that she and her family always made me feel as if I were welcome at any time. This friend hd a little sister; whenever the grandmother wanted anything, this little girl was ready and willing to wait on her. Once while I was there, the grandmother wanted a chair moved to another room. It was the little sister, who was not more than five years old, who did her best to move it for her.

Courtesy in my opinion does not end in being respectful and kind to people. It also means kindness to dumb animals. So many people act as if it does not make any difference whether they are kind to animals or not. Each of us have our dislikes, and so probably each of us have dislikes among animals. I do not like cats but that is not the cat's fault; so I have no reason to be unkind to them.

Courtesy means so much to everyone that we really should try to be more polite and obloging. If we can only remember that every little thing we ever do or say can never be undone, we would be more courteous.

"La Septima Feria"

Será más grande que nunca,
Será mejor que ningùn ano,
Será mejor soportada,
La feria de este ano.

Bien soportada estará la feria,
Con los mejores oficiales de la escuela,
Y todo el Chino detrás de ella,
Será la mejor de ferias.

También más buena será,
Esta gran séptima feria,
Porque está abierta para competir,
Todo alumno de escuela.

Habrá muchas competiciones,
Entre cada uno de los departamentos,
Para competir con sus rivales,
Y ensenar sus buenos talentos.

Habrá muchas cosas de reír,
Y muchas cosas de admirar,
Si son mejores que otras,
Tendrán premios que ganar.

Que bonita se verá,
Con tantas preciosas flores,
Ganando primeros, segundos, y terceros premios,
Y llenando el aire con sus olores.

Habrán muchos más corrales,
Llenos de bellísimos animales,
Haciendo curiosos ruidos,
Para competir con sus rivales.

No porque los mire usted feos,
Tenga usted miedo a los animales,
Ellos estarán con sus crías,
Adentro de sus corrales.

Los oficiales nos aseguran,
Teniendo experiencia en la agricultura,
Que será una feria de ferias,
Yo pienso no cabe duda.

Es una gran feria les digo,
No dejen ustedes de venir,
Será en la escuela de Chino,
El veintisiete y veintiocho de abril.

Do You Know Him?

I THINK we all know him. Civilization may advance, and obnoxious insects will be exterminated; but we shall never be rid of that worst animal, the study hall pest.

In the first place, he is always late. If he is in the fifth period study, he always comes in eating part of his lunch. He shambles in munching on candy, ice-cream, or some kind of fruit. He spends about five minutes giving the exasperated teacher some alibi for being tardy. And the worst of it is, he never has a clever or original reason. At last, he starts for his seat, and reaches there only after knocking a book from a table and jarring someone's arm who is copying a theme.

After he reaches his seat, he decides that his pencil needs to be sharpened. Fine! He can spend another five minutes going to the sharpener, and disturbing everyone while he grinds on his pencil. Then he finally decides to get to work. Really! is the thought of his neighbors. But no. No such luck as yet. He opens his book and finds that he has no paper. Another ten minutes spent in trying to beg or borrow some paper. And the number of things he can think of to say while simply trying to borrow one piece of scratch paper!

When the period is about three-fourths over, he is struck by the thought that he has fifteen algebra problems due next period. He hasn't even started them! He really works those last fifteen minutes. But, of course, he has time to work only a few of them, and so he must borrow someone's paper and copy the rest.

The next period comes. Study hall pest, "I never have time to do my work, teacher. I work the whole study period, and I never finish my assignments. Can't you give us fewer problems?

On Having Four Brothers

I CAN think of nothing nicer or more annoying at times than having four brothers. Of course, many girls have brothers, but they all don't have four; and I doubt if anyone could stand more than four.

Brothers are very queer things. At times they are willing to obey my slightest wish. At other times I couldn't hire them to do anything for me. I suppose that this is partly my fault, but I can't think of anything that should make them so obstinate.

All my brothers are different in some ways, but in other ways they are alike. They all enjoy hitting me. I don't think they realize how hard they can hit, and many times it hurts a good deal. If I am in the kitchen and one of them comes in for a drink, he delights in throwing water on me. I don't dare throw any on him, because I should have to wipe up any that I shou'd spill on the floor.

Another annoying characteristic that is common to all of them is that they think I should know where everything is that the family owns. They expect me to know where they keep their rakes, hoes, and all their clothes and personal belongings. They think it is terrible if I don't know; but if I should ask them where the egg-beater or recipe book was, they would look at me in amazement for ever thinking of such a thing.

Another exasperating thing about brothers is that they are never on time for dinner. The part I think the worst is that they don't appear to make any effort to be on time while we are caused no end of trouble trying to keep the food warm for them. And speaking of food, no matter what time of year it is, they think we should slave over the stove all day to prepare their meals. No matter how much or how little we have for meals, they always want more. I don't think that any of them appear to be undernourished.

Furthermore, they all seem to think that they should have a clean shirt every day. This needs no comment. Imagine the ironing and washing for four brothers and a father when each one wants seven shirts a week.

I don't want to make the impression that I do not appreciate my brothers. I have became so used to being yelled at that when one of them leaves, the quietness is scarcely bearable. If I want to go some place, one of them is usually willing to take me. If I should go to the mountains, one is always willing to let me wear a sweater or something else.

I have often thought of this question: "If I should decide that four brothers is too many, which one could I do without?" I think about each one for a while and decide that I couldn't do without any one of them.

Opening, Sept. 11: Today the gates of learning yawned open to admit an eager throng of students to Chino High School. The school year lies invitingly before us with busy days and party nights peeping around each corner. We welcome our many new instructors and the fresh and stimulating ideas they are sure to bring to us. With high hopes we eagerly anticipate the new school year.

Oct. 20 Today saw the opening of the Tri-County League football season. Chino played Colton on the home field and lost the game.

Oct. 23 Oh, those lovely coiffures and carefully made-up faces! And the straight ties and slicked hair! But what's the motive behind it all? Senior pictures.

Oct. 27 This Friday we played Colton on their home field. Victory was ours-

Nov. 3 Another home game with Bonita. Bonita won.

Nov. 6-10 Such a week of wholesale suffering as we haven't seen since last year's term exams was experienced by the new members of the Pep Club during the initiation ceremonies. Bare-feet, black stockings, dresses turned backwards or inside-out ran riot, but the crowning humiliation was the ban on make-up of any kind. Hence the many pale, delicate damsels one saw drifting about the campus.

Nov. 11 On Armistice day Chino played their last game of the Tri-County season. Chino won.

Dec. 8 "Where's Your Wife?", a hilarious comedy, was presented tonight by the Junior class. The many amusing situations were handled so cleverly that the laughs were almost continuous. Congratulations, Juniors.

"A" Weight Football

THE scores of the heavyweight football games this season were odd in that the Cowboys, who were shut completely out in two contests, could come back and win so decisively in the other two.

Coach Brooks' squad, though determined and really succeeding in holding the Colton boys to as low a score as possib e, had the decided disadvantage of being faced with a league winner in their opening game of the year.

In our second tilt, which was played on the Corona field, the Cowboys staged a startling comeback. In the closing moments of the game with a series of forward passes and long runs Chino put over two quick touchdowns and so proved their scoring ability.

The Bonita eleven in a tight, highly defensive game showed the same capacity to score against Chino as did the yellowjackets in the league-opener.

As an Armistice Day celebration our heavyweights took the lead and held it constantly against Claremont in a game whose closing gun left the score 26-6.

Lettermen: W. Bertschinger, captain, E. English, R. Metzgar, R. Preston, F. Brown, E. Gray, S. Solomon, D. Simmons, T. Cliburn, E. Brawley, G. Pike, W. Crystal.

Top row: Wayne Hauser, Carl Hoffman, Elgar English, Frank Brown, Walter Bertschinger, Sam Solomon, Joe Printy, Robley Reher, Otis Brooks, coach.

Second row: Wilbur Crystal, Wesley Seapy, Don Simmons, Jack Parker, Billy York, Walter Schmidgall, Fred Wright, Robert Cocke, Dennis Tuckness.

"C" Weight Football

THE spunky group of fellows who this year under the capable coaching of Levi Dickey composed the lightweight squad had a bit of hard luck as far as the T. C. L. championship was concerned. The team played in all its scheduled games, lost none, tied two, and won two; yet they came thru with a tie for second place. Honors of first place went to Colton with Bonita and Chino second, and Corona and Claremont consecutively third and fourth.

The league-opener with Colton was a thriller from start to finish. Not only were the Cowboys able to ho'd the Tri-County champions to a tie, but threatened twice to score-each time stopped by the end of the half.

The lightweight's second seasonal game with Corona like that with Colton had for an ending score a tie.

In the following game the lighweight team, unlike the heavier Chino squad, was able to whip a fine Bonita team.

As a conclusion to a successful season and perhaps inspired by the general enthusiasm of Armistice Day, the lightweights did Claremont up to the tune of 41-0.

Lettermen: N. Hixon, captain, C. Barnes, O. Cliburn, M. Echito, A. Haertel, B. Harrison, D. Holford, S. Murillo, O. Parks, E. Rapattoni, J. Silva, R. Thomas, J. Weaver, H. Latham.

Top row: Edward Pine, Bob Wagner, Robert Irwin, Don Zillman, Robert Olson, Merle Falmer.
Second row: Mr. McHenry, coach, Robert Carlisle, John Tanner, Dick Thompson, Roy Owens, Glenn Fulton, Seferine Murrillo, John Weaver, Mr. Dickey, Coach.
Third row: David Purington, Oscar Parks, Don Holford, Harold Latham, Bruce Harrison, Clifford Barnes, Fred Lewelling, Joe Silva, Martin Echito.

"A" Weight Basketball

THE Cowboy Varsity this year threw caution to the winds; they smashed through a last year's defeat to take the Tri-County League championship, lived up to reputation by winning the Hunt'ngton Beach Tournament, and came through for the champions' cup in the Second Annual T. C. L. Tournament.

Out of twenty-seven practice and championship games our team was the winner of twenty-one. Points won by the Cowboys during the entire season were 679. Opponents gained 382 digits.

After a short but intensive practice in December the team traveled to Huntington Beach. Here they met Excelsior, Bonita, and Downey in turn and brought back individual and team awards.

The T. C. L. season began in January. The first game, which was played at Colton, was a perfect complement to a thrilling lightweight tussle in which Chino was the victor.

Chino's game with Corona as well as the one with Bonita was a well fought game and highly exciting. Both games were won by Chino. The last game, with Claremont, was a walk-away for the Cowboys.

Lettermen: Earl Bunting, captain, Walter Bertschinger, Ernie Brawley, Sam Solomon, John Lehman, Wilbur Crystal, Elmer Gray, Sam Liskey, and Elgar English.

"B" Weight Basketball

UNDER the capable coaching of Otis Brooks, Chino's B team brought home for the second successive season the Tri-County championship. The games throughout were unusually close and exciting. Only the extra punch possessed by the Cowboy squad and the enthusiastic student body tilted the balance of the games in Chino's favor.

The league-opener with the first class Yellowjacket basketeers was a game packed with the kind of thril's that make even the most neutral observer excited. A last-minute rally gave Chino the slight margin that was so characteristic of the whole season.

With an injured team mate on the bench and as an opponent a highly defensive Corona quintet, the lightweights pulled through for a slim one-point victory in the second game of the T.C.L. season.

The lightweight game with Bonita, which was played as a preliminary to the historic varsity game, drew as large a crowd as ever. The crowd was not disappointed. In the last few minutes of play the Chino team came through for a series of goals which gave them a two-point advantage when the final whistle blew.

The last game of the year with Claremont was an exact duplicate of the Corona game in the final score and style of play. It was a perfect final game of a hard-fought season.

Lettermen: Captain Reldon Dunlap, Norman Hixon, Seferine Murillo, Martin Echito, Ogel Cliburn, Bruce Harrison, Robert Reynolds, Robert Preston, Glen Brinderson, Alfred Brawely.

Top row: Jackie Solomon, Don Simmons, Seferine Murillo, Frank Pine, Robert Preston, Glen Brinderson, Mr. Brooks.

"C" & "D" Weight Basketball

ONE of the two teams representing Chino's future varsity hopes brought home a championship trophy, while the other came through for a second place in the T. C. L. ratings. Both teams under Wayne Hauser's capable coaching displayed throughout the entire season the undying spirit so noticeable in all Cowboy basketball teams.

Up to the afternoon of the Bonita games both quintettes had successively defeated Colton and Corona by large margins, the second "D" game being a forfeit although played and won by Chino.

The "C" team came through the Bonita ordeal with a surprising victory. The lightest team, however, had trouble. Though they lost the game which would have given Chino four complete basketball victories in one year, they lost it only by a bitter two points.

With Claremont there was a reversal of winning luck. The "C" team had the T. C. L. breaks with them and came through for a tie with Bonita for championship rating. The "D" team, which won just as many games as the "C's", had to be content with a second place. Such is basketball, and life.

"C" Lettermen: Captain Robert Olson, Porferio Sifuentes, Robert Gonzales, Don Zillman, Joe Silva, Jesse Pacillas.

"D" Lettermen: Captain Michael Dotta, Chester Echard, Art Haertel, Fred Lewelling, Cameron Bogue.

Second row: Chester Echard, Edward Wilson, Edward Pine, Dick Thompson, Fred Lewelling, Robert Irwin, Cameron Bogue.

Baseball

AS THIS article is written, a fighting squad of baseball men is about to make history in Chino High School sports. Under the new but very capable coaching of Mark Jacobs they have successively defeated Colton, Corona, and Bonita, and are headed for a league championship.

After a short, intensive period of practice the Cowboys found themselves faced by Colton, last year's championship team. Chino came through that game with a big surprize victory, which may be largely attributed to the fine pitching and hitting of the Chino boys.

Corona proved as difficult as Colton, as the scores illustrate, the only difference being that the Cowboys were beginning to get into their hitting stride better and were able to rap out more hits than previously.

The Bonita game was played as a preliminary to the Junior Fair and as such drew a much greater crowd than had any of the previous games. The crowd was not disappointed; the game was more than ordinarily exciting from start to finish.

The Claremont team has not been played as this is written, but if Chino can come through for a victory it will mean the first Cowboy baseball championship in many years.

Lettermen: E. Bunting, S. Solomon, R. Dunlap, S. Liskey, A. Brawley, P. Sifuentes, A. Garcia, G. Pike, S. Murillo, W. Bertschinger.

Middle row: Sabino Alcala, George Pike, Alfred Brawley, Walter Bertschinger, A. G. Harris.

Track

FOR THE first time in the history of the T. C. League Chino High School had the duties and honor of being the host in the annual track meet. That she lived up to her job, we can only hope; that the track is one of the best in the league may be attested for by the fact that four new track records were made on it.

The Yellowjackets took the first place honors in the heavyweight meet by the good margin of fifteen points. In the lightweight tussle a surprisingly fine Corona squad edged out the Cowboy team by two points. Highlights of the day were Griffith of Claremont, who turned in two of the new records, Berner of Corona, the high point man of the meet, Willis of Bonita, Bertschinger of Chino, and Nielson of Colton, a.l winners in their respective fields.

Harrison in the lightweight meet brought in two first places to Chino, while Barboza gave the Cowboy enthusiasts a thrill by being in the first honors for the 1320 run.

New life went into the making of the track team this year due to the stimulus of a new field, the new head coach, Mr. McHenry, and to the wholehearted support of the entire student body and faculty. New letters requirements gave the following letters:

Carlisle, Zillman, Harrison, Chavez, Barboza, Pike, Liskey, Bunting, Briones, Bertschinger, Hixon, Silva.

Top row: Robley Reher, Wesley Seapy, Walter Bertschinger, Ted Belardes, Mr. McHenry, Amado Briones, John Tanner, Don Zillman.
Third row: Martin Echito, Walter Schmidgall, Ogel Cliburn, Michael Dotta, David Purington, Edson Parker, Alexander Barboza, Bill Owen.
Second row: Earl Bunting, Ernie Brawley, Bob Carlisle, Clifford Barnes, Carl Hoffman, Sam Liskey, Wilbur Crystal, Horris Greer.

Tennis

A LATE start and a good deal of untrained material in the early matches of the season gave Chino one of the poorest tennis years in a long time.

The team's new coach, Wayne Hauser, was unavoidably kept from working with players early in the season. The results of this are clearly demonstrated by the fact that, as the season advanced and the players could be coached, the scores against opponents grew increasingly larger, until the Cowboys overwhelmingly defeated Pomona and Claremont.

In the first matches the team played as follows:

Second doubles: E. Parker, D. Purington

First doubles: R. Reher, F. Lewelling

Fourth singles: M. Dotta

Third singles: E. Huston

Second singles: M. Echito

First singles: J. Stanton

Prospects for next year look very favorable. Many of the players are underclassmen and should profit by this year's training and experience.

Top row: Edson Parker, Bobby Reynolds, Robley Reher, Wayne Hauser, John Stanton, Everett Huston, Martin Echito.

Bottom row: Michael Dotta, David Purington, Andy Grant, Fred Lewelling.

Girls' Hockey

HOCKEY seems to be one of the favorite sports among the girls. At least there is always a large number of girls out each season. This may be because there are more girls on a team than in basketba'l. When all the girls are interested this way, much more real hockey is learned during practices, and the students work better together.

The hockey players had one big disappointment during their season. Just as they were getting we l started in their practices, it was decided to have the field worked over. This left the girls without a place to play. Because of this big interruption, the players lost many practices. Just before playday the girls got partly in shape by practicing out in front of the bus sheds. Using this ground for a field was very inconvenient. The space was too small and had too many rocks on it to make it very comfortable for the players.

The fact that the field was being worked over did away with inter_class games. This was quite a disappointment too, because the girls always like to know which class has the best team in their own school.

Hockey playday was held at Bonita on a Friday afternoon late in February. In spite of the girls loosing out on practices, all of them were victorious except the juniors.

Top row: Edna Fletcher, Gertrude Swift, Leona Atkins, Miss Strange, coach, Alice Gans, Ada Wood, Irma Irwin.
Middle row: Millie Chalupnik, Esther Maurer, Ellen English, Genevieve Newman, Dorothy Preston.

Girls' Basketball

GIRLS' Basketball started out with the same pep and enthusiasm which is usually found in our girls. Practice began shortly after school started, and the turnout was very good. The sophomores and freshmen showed up in even larger number than in the preceding years. In fact there were two teams formed from each group.

Perhaps one thing which kept the girls so interested was our new assistant athletic coach, Miss Strange. Much credit is due to Miss Strange for coaching the teams at all practices.

The teams are chosen by the coaches, Miss Kemman and Miss Strange, and the basketball manager and senior captain, Meriam Atkins. Dorothy Preston was leader of the junior team. The sophomore and freshman classes had two captains each. They were Mariam Johnson, Thelma Foster, Katie Marie Justice, and Joyce Howell respectively.

The seniors especially had a very good basketball season. They had the privilege of playing a team from Pomona J. C. at Chino on their own floor. This was a very close game. The senior girls did exceedingly well to close the game with the score of 8-8, since the Pomona girls have had so much more experience than our girls.

The annual basketball playday was held at Claremont in November. This event took place on Saturday, and a good day was enjoyed by all. The Chino teams came home with three flags of victory.

Players: Meriam Atkins, Esther Maurer, Alice Gans, Leona Atkins, Ada Wood, Zippora Pederson, Josephine Haslaur, Ellen English, Marguerite Casenave, Dorothy Preston.

Girls' Tennis

THE TURN out for girls' tennis was much better this year than last. Not only were there many girls, but girls who were very good players, so the competition for making the team was very keen. Of special interest is the large number of freshmen girls who came out. Two of them made the team. This is encouraging for the future of girls' tennis.

Miss Strange was the tennis coach, and Pauline Calkins was the Captain. Marguerite Casenave succeeded in winning every match of the season. Although the girls did not win enough matches to be league winners, they know that they gave the other teams good, clean competition in every match.

Other members of the team were:

First singles: Marguerite Casenave

Second singles: Marion Seitel

Third singles: Ellen Lewis - Britta Anderson

Fourth singles: Elma Scribner

First doubles: Anna May Thompson - Pauline Calkins

Second doubles: Virginia Arnold - Marion Johnson

Betty Pollard.

Top row: Marguerite Casenave, Britta Anderson, Marion Johnson, Miss Strange, Anna May Thompson, Elma Scribner, Ellen Lewis.

Speedball

GIRLS' speedba l practices were encouraged very much at the beginning of the season by a new field to use. So many disadvantages had been endured during the hockey seascn that it was a perfect luxury to have a good, new field on which to play speedball. The practices were carried cn regularly until the end of the season when the interclass games were played. The sophomores were winners in this contest. We are rather proud of their victory over the seniors.

The speedball playday was held on Saturday on the field at San Bernardino J. C. It was carried out on a plan altogether different from any of the previous playdays in which Chino has competed. It was a color playday. In a playday of this sort the girls from all the different schools are mixed to form as many teams as there are schools.

We cannot say whether Chino was victorious or not, because the girls all played on different teams.

The object of these playdays is to give the girls a better chance to become acquainted and in this way promote friendship between the schools.

It was voted on whether or not to continue color playdays. The result was that the girls wanted one color playday a year each time in a different sport.

After the games the students were taken in the busses to the Colton High School. A program was given there by some of the Colton students. There were several dance numbers and string trio numbers. The ribbons were awarded to the girls on the winning teams, and everyone returned home happy because of their new experience.

Top row: Miss Strange, Katie Marie Justice, Esther Maurer, Meriam Atkins, Barbara Stoltz, Alice Gans.
Middle row: Rosina Burger, Marian Johnson, Catherine Miller, Mildred Minnich, Dorothy Rapattoni.

Mr. Curtis: "Yes, turn it down."

John Stanton: "Robley is selling electrical equipment, now."
Walter Clark: "Really? I thought he had gone out of the drug store business."

Fond Mother: "My son has many original ideas, don't you think?"
Miss Kemman: "Yes, especially in spelling."

Randall Corkhill: "What is a swimming hole?"
Roy Pickens: "A swimming hole is a body of water surrounded by boys."

Billy Owen: "What time do you get up in the summer?"
Don Simmons: "As soon as the first ray of sun comes in at my window."
Billy: "Isn't that rather early?"
Don: "No, my room faces west."

Why Teachers Go Crazy

I didn't have time; we had play practice.

It's too cold to dress today.

May we be excused this period to practice?

Huh?

May I get a drink?

What good will this do us when we are out of school?

We have too much to do.

Why do we have to have so many chaperones?

I lost my theme.

There will be a faculty meeting at 7:30 in the morning.

I forgot my pencil.

I left my book at home.

Why didn't you get the other guy?

May I go to my locker?

How long does that theme have to be?

Why Students Go Crazy

The outlines of the last five chapters will be due Wednesday.

May I borrow your fountain pen?

What is the important subject in today's paper?

You will report to study-hall during assembly period until all back work is made up.

You must bring a note from home.

The speaker for today is ————.

Let's see what Will Rogers has to say today.

Have you any scratch paper?

You have not turned in the following experiments:

Why didn't you report to —— 8th period?

Miss Miller wants to see you.

There is altogether too much noise in the halls.

The test will be very easy.

Alcohol themes are due next week.

Is that in the constitution?

George Pike: "What are you doing now?"
Sam Solomon: "I'm a diamond cutter."
George: "Diamond cutter?"
Sam: "I cut the grass on the baseball diamond."

Robert Preston: "What kind of a car are you driving now?"
Norman Hixon: "It's an R. F. D. Rescued from the dump."

Harold Latham: "Do you think airplanes will ever supplant automobiles?"
Jack Parker: "No, who would want to park in a dark old cloud?"

Bobby Reynolds: "May I come over tonight?"
Lucia McConnell: "I hab a berry bad code."
Bobby: "Well, let me come over and help decipher it."

Mrs. Brooks: "I'm afraid the mountain air would disagree with me."
Mr. Brooks: "My dear, it wouldn't dare."

Reldon Dunlap: "Would you like to have dinner with me to-night?"
Mary Whitney: "I'd love to."
Reldon: "Well, tell your mother I'll be over early."

Bertha Hendricks: "That man is so honest he wouldn't steal a pin."
Apolonia Samwell: "I have never thought much of the pin test. Why don't you try him with an umbrella?"

Frank Westfield: "I've had this car for years and never had a wreck."
Ted Collins: "You mean you've had this wreck for years and never had a car."

R. H. Ragsdale: "Did you go on that fishing trip?"
Chet Wilson: " Yes I certainly did."
R. H.: "Did you fish with flies?"
Chet: "Golly, we fished with them, camped with them, ate with them, and slept with them."

Mrs. Larsen: "I do hope that you keep your cows in the pasture."
Milkman: "Yes, of course, we keep them in a pasture."
Mrs. Larsen: "I'm so glad, I have been told that pasturized milk is the best."

Nicholas Hendricks: "I want a pencil."
Mr. Votaw: "Hard or soft?"
Nick: "Soft, it is for writing a love letter."

Mrs. Reed: "And are you sure the story is original?"
Roger White: "Certainly it is."
Mrs. Reed: "Great Heavens! I never thought I'd live to see the day when I would meet Rudyard Kipling."

Mr. Dunn: "So you want a job as proof reader?"
Anna May: "Yes, sir."
Mr. Dunn: "And do you understand your responsibility?"
Anna May: "When you make a mistake, I take all the blame."

Mr. Broadwell (entering a concert asked the usher): "What are they playing now?"
Usher: "Beethoven's Ninth Symphony."
Mr. Broadwell: "Say, that's too bad. I missed the other eight."

Ada Wood: "I'm just going to hug the fireplace when we get in."
Wilfred Clark: "Why do that? I'm a brick."

Mr. Dickey: "If I cut a beefsteak in two, then cut the halves in two, then divide the pieces, what do I get?"
Oscar Parks: "Eighths."
Mr. Dickey: "Correct. Again?"
Oscar: "Sixteenths."
Mr. Dickey: "Correct. Again?"
Oscar: "Thirty-seconds."
Mr. Dickey: "Correct. Again?"
Oscar: "Hamburger."

We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to the following: Miss Corwin, art instructor; Mr. Dunn, printing instructor; Pierce Preston, assistant pressman; Robert Preston, Roger White, and Norman Hixon, who set type for the advertizements.

To Our Advertizers
